Child Rights

Every child has four basic rights like the right to survival, development, protection, and participation. But the rights are violated every day, and children are forced to do much heinous practice like prostitution, bonded or adults at a tender age. Every concerned individual has to protect their rights, as the formed are not capable of so protection and promotion of child rights is on the thrust areas of BAWS and we are associated with state and child and work with them for the hobby. Advocacy of protection and promotion of child rights. In our project areas, more specifically in tribal regions of Uttar Dinajpur district, we are educating the womenfolk and adolescent girls on such issues. It is a continuous program of BAWS NGO and it has a very good impact on the tribal folk. We are in the process to provide daycare facilities to such children whose mother is engaged outside. When you teach somebody how to read, they have that too a lifetime it ripples through the community, one by one. We move toward the strength of this statement to eradicate illiteracy from the communities it works within as it believes that it is the basic right of every child to get a basic right are interrogated and the most crucial right is the right to development the society stands on these pillars to make a child-safe in every aspect of its life.

Education Program

The flagship program of Barhans Azad Welfare Society supplementary a complementary education program provides free education to children in economically backward rural areas. The program primarily works with underprivileged and deserving students through after-school support centers which run in the evening | morning. Almost, the parents of these children are laborers, farmers, and domestic help and are unable to support the educational needs of their children. The inability of planets to guide their children coupled with their inability to guide their children coupled with their illiteracy adds to the poor performance of their students.

Mostly children between the age group of 3-13 years enrolled in nearby government school. These children are provided with special classes after the school hours. Children from class (i) to (viii) are being benefited Bengali, English, Math, Science, and G.K. are the subjects being taught at the centers.

Mostly the children are the first generation learners in their families to go to school. Most of their parents are indifferent towards their education.
